The main character in this book is Leo Langlander. His annoying cousin Mimi Langlander comes to stay with them along with her small dog. But before she visits, Leo's great aunt Bethany died and passes on a special music box to Leo. But, there's a catch. The box has four rules: NEVER wind the box while music is playing, NEVER turn the key more than three times, NEVER move the box before the music stops, and NEVER close the lid until the music stops. Leo followed these rules, but Mimi thought they were silly. She turned the key FOUR times instead of three, and an evil which comes out of the box and steals the dog. They enter the world of the music box to find her dog. To find out what happens next read The Key to Rondo!
